DECIDUOUS TREES

WHILE the collection of trees is very large, we have used extra care in making up the following list, selecting only varieties which have special merit for use in lawn, park, and street planting. Deciduous trees can be safely planted in the Spring as soon as the frost is out of the ground, before the new growth has started, and again in the Autumn as soon as the early frosts have ripened the wood. We cannot too strongly emphasise the necessity of preparation of the ground before planting.

Too often a fine, healthy tree is squeezed into a hole about half the size of the diameter of the roots, afterwards filling it with any kind of soil. This in many cases has proved to be the common cause of failure, which generally is blamed to some fault of the tree. The hole should be dug at least two feet wider than the roots, the soil enriched with well-decayed manure and well mixed. The roots should be spread out, the hole gradually filled with good loam, and afterwards well watered. The depth can be easily judged by the soil line on the trunk.

Sizes of young trees which we can supply are shown by symbols following the descriptions. Ultimate height at maturity under average conditions is denoted by letters, thus: A, Fifty feet or more, B, Twenty to forty feet, C, Ten to twenty feet, D, Six to ten feet.

Ulmus Americana—American Elm

ULMUS—ELM

Here in New England many towns owe much of their beauty to the stately elms which border their streets. The American Elm is, of course, the best known, but the English Elm (U. campestris) is being much used for street planting. Its foliage is somewhat smaller than that of our native variety and its habit of growth more spreading.

U. Americana (American Elm). A. A large and stately tree with long and graceful branches. Leaves oblong, sharply serrate, dark green, turning pale yellow in Autumn. Very picturesque in age, and desirable for lawn or landscape. Price: 6 to 8 ft. $1.50 each, $14.00 for ten; 8 to 10 ft. $2.50 each; 10 to 12 ft. $3.50 each, 12 to 14 ft. $4.50 each.

Spraying for Leaf Eating Insects

The annual ravages of brown-tail, gypsy moth, and tent caterpillars may be controlled by the use of Corona Dry Arsenate of Lead. For both trees and shrubs coming into full leaf, one half pound of Dry Arsenate to ten gallons of water, or two to three level teaspoonfuls to the gallon will be effective and will not burn the foliage.

VINES and CLIMBERS

Few well planned houses are seen now-a-days without one or more of these decorative plants. They serve also in the general scheme of covering other buildings or dividing the grounds. Of course a vine or climber must have something to climb on—we furnish from our wood-working shop all manner of trellises, lattices, and screens for this purpose both in stock designs and custom built to suit special requirements. Let us submit sketches and estimates to meet your needs.

HEDGES and SCREENS

Shrubs or low-growing trees may often be made to take the place of a wood or metal fence to mark a boundary or to discourage trespassing, and usually at less expense.

A wide range of choice in hedging materials is possible, and selections should be made with a view to the ultimate height and density desired. For low hedges, which are to be closely sheared, Barberry and Privet are the usual choice, spacing the plants one foot apart. For taller hedges and screens, Willows, Lilacs, and Evergreens of various sorts are frequently used, spacing them three to four feet apart. Many of the Flowering Shrubs also form most attractive hedges and borders. For a screen of extreme height and rapid growth, Lombardy Poplars are of course to be recommended.

SPIRÆA — MEADOWSWEET

One of the most valuable classes of hardy shrubs. The best known is, of course, S. Van Houttei, which has superseded the old-fashioned Bridal Wreath in popular favour. S. Arguta is the earliest to bloom, followed by the feathery leaved S. Thunbergii. The dwarf growing S. Anthony Waterer blooms during the Summer. S. opulifolia aurea is a tall rapid-growing form with yellow foliage.

S. arguta. M. Closely allied to the well-known early flowering S. Thunbergii, which it resembles. It is, however, of more elegant habit than the latter, having larger flowers borne on comparatively upright stems.

Syringa — Lilac

Price: except as noted: $1.25 each, $11.00 for ten

The former are late blooming, the foliage being plicated and leathery, not subject to rust and mildew as is the case with the Common Lilac. The Persian Lilac is a slender growing shrub with a tendency to droop, especially when in bloom. Amongst the Named Hybrids many striking colours will be found.

Annual Care of Shrubs

Aside from pruning, all shrubs should have occasional cultivation. There is no better practice than to accumulate compost, leaf mold and barnyard dressing during the Spring clean-up, and when the early rush is over, to spread it through the shrubby border and fork it in. The soil under shrubs should be forked annually and enriched once every two years.

ROSES OUT-OF-DOORS

Rose growing is becoming more and more popular with flower-lovers, especially since the introduction of so many new varieties suitable for out-of-door culture in our rigorous climate. The best of the new, together with many of the old favourites, are included in the following list. Every sunny corner of the home grounds may well be occupied by some type of Rose.

Directions for Planting and Care

Planting: Roses are generally planted in early Spring, though good results follow planting in October or early November. Potted plants may be set out at any time during the Spring or Summer months. Rich soil is necessary for success with Roses. Dig the bed deep, and fill with plenty of well-rotted manure. Set the plants $2\frac{1}{2}$ feet apart; and bury the collar or bud (B, see cut) about three inches below the surface of the ground (A). Spread the roots and work the soil in amongst them, finally treading firmly. Water frequently in dry seasons and keep the surface of the bed well cultivated.

Pruning: New plants should be cut back to within six inches of the ground. Old plants should be pruned in March one-half to two-thirds of the previous season's growth and all dead wood should be removed. Do not allow shoots from below the crown (B) to develop and sap the vitality of the plant.

Protection: In our climate, Roses do best when given Winter protection. Hill them up with earth to a depth of six inches or more and cover the bed with straw manure secured from blowing away by boards or evergreen branches. In Spring rake off the coarse manure and spade in the remaining fine litter. Tree Roses must be tied up in straw, or removed to a cool cellar during the cold weather.

Insects: The most common pests are aphids or lice, and green and black flies. A good general remedy is "Black Leaf 40" a spray containing nicotine. Since this acts upon the bodies of the insects by contact, it must be so applied as actually to hit them. Rose-bugs (beetles) must be picked or shaken from the plants, or poisoned with arsenate of lead.

Diseases: For mildew, dust the leaves with powdered sulphur. For "Black Spot" Hammond's Copper Solution is recommended beginning early in June and spraying every week during July and August.

The Roses suitable for cut-flower purposes are grouped under Garden Roses, and include most of the Hybrids best adapted to garden culture. The two principal classes are the Hybrid Perpetuals and Hybrid Teas. The former are strong-growing, bearing large full blooms on the ends of the new shoots, and having usually but one blooming period, in June. They are somewhat hardier than the Hybrid Tea varieties. The latter are of weaker growth, but bloom almost constantly from June until frost. In our climate they need some winter protection, the best method being to hill up the plants with earth and to mulch heavily with strawy manure or other light covering. Both classes should have a place in the home grounds.

After May first we can supply most varieties well established in 5 and 6-inch pots which may be set out with safety at any time during the late spring or Summer.

We can not ship dormant Roses after May first

ROSA HUGONIS

One of the finest single-flowered roses. Introduced from China a few years ago, it is becoming better known and more widely planted. Its habit of growth does not allow it to be used in the rose beds, but it should be planted either as a specimen shrub or in the shrub border where it will grow rapidly and flower very freely. When in bloom it resembles a glorified Spiræa Van Houttei, with its large single yellow flowers remaining in bloom for fully two weeks at a time when no other rose has as yet begun to show itself. After flowering the small, pale green foliage on red-tipped twigs make it a very fine shrub until late in the Autumn. The delicate yellow flowers are produced in long, arching sprays early in May on every branch of the previous year's growth, which is lined to the very tips with these beautiful blossoms.

Price: strong plants, $1.50 each, $14.00 for ten.

LILIUM—LILY

For Garden and Pot Culture

The Lilies are among the most beautiful and ornamental of cultivated bulbous plants, their stately habit and variously-coloured flowers (which are in many cases highly perfumed) rendering them indispensable subjects for greenhouse decoration, and for outside flower-garden embellishment. Nearly all are hardy. The commoner and more plentiful species may be effectively employed for grouping or naturalizing. Many of them are excellent border plants when in flower, being extremely attractive in mixed arrangements, if properly placed in respect of height. Many of the strong-growing Lilies are well adapted to planting among shrubs, where the latter are not too thickly placed. By growing a selection of species in pots, to flower at different times, a valuable addition to greenhouse decorative subjects is secured over a long period, in Summer and Autumn. Lilies should always be planted not less than three in a clump thus .-

FRUIT TREES & SMALL FRUITS

Few home grounds are so small that place cannot be found for a fruit tree or bush to provide the family with fresh, thoroughly-ripened fruit which has not been deprived of its rich flavour by too early picking and a long journey to market. Our fruit stock is practically all New England grown, rugged and healthy; careful grading and handling ensure to the customer a favourable beginning for the fruit plantation.

The growing of fruit trees in New England is dropping off to an alarming extent. We are today consuming fruit from trees planted by previous generations and these trees are dying out for the lack of care and from old age. If our children are to enjoy the fruits as we enjoy them, these trees must be replaced. It is almost a duty for us now to plant fruit trees, because they take some time to come to maturity and bearing.

Unlike many other utilitarian objects fruit trees are also decorative. A well-cared-for apple or pear tree is as beautiful an object as most of the trees that are planted for their beauty alone. Our ancestors planted fruit trees in the grounds about their houses, a practice which might well be resumed by the present generation.

The ground in which fruit trees are planted should be drained in such a way as to avoid stagnant moisture, which is inimical to the best growth of newly planted trees, and the ground should be as well prepared as for crops of corn, potatoes, and the like. Before planting the trees, see that all broken roots are properly pruned, and in the case of Standard Trees, which run from 5 to 7 feet in height, have all of the top branches pruned back to within three or four buds at the base of the shoot, thus lessening the strain upon the roots, and giving the remaining buds an opportunity for more vigorous growth. Larger trees may be shortened to a lesser degree; and where there are small twiggy growths, these should be cut out entirely. In all cases have the holes dug sufficiently large to allow the roots of trees to be straight and natural, and with the tree held in an upright position, have the finest and best soil carefully worked in among the roots so that the latter may be in close contact with the soil. This important precaution will save the loss of many trees.

DISTANCE BETWEEN FRUIT TREES or BUSHES

Standard Apples: 30 to 40 feet apart each way. In poor soils 25 feet may be enough. Dwarf: 6 to 15 feet apart.
Standard Pears and Cherries: 20 feet apart each way.
 Cherries will do at 18 feet. Dwarf Pears: 10 to 12 feet apart each way. The greater distance is better.
Standard Plums, Peaches: 16 to 18 feet apart each way.
Quinces: 10 to 12 feet apart each way.
Currants, Gooseberries, and Raspberries: 3 to 4 feet apart.
Blackberries: 6 to 7 feet apart.

Insuring the Crop of Fruit

To plant fruit trees and then neglect them is the height of folly. Proper spraying at the right time is essential to successful fruit growing. While the trees are dormant, spray thoroughly for scale and leaf blister with Commercial Lime Sulphur solution, one pint to each gallon of water. When the blooms begin to show colour and before they open spray thoroughly with the following mixture: To each gallon of water, add one gill of Lime Sulphur, one teaspoonful of "Black Leaf 40," and two teaspoonfuls of Corona Dry Arsenate of Lead. The third and most important spraying takes place just as the last flower petals are falling. The same spray is used with the exception that if no aphid is present, the "Black Leaf 40" may be eliminated.

Points on Planting Fruit Trees

Before planting fruit trees, they should be severely pruned. Cut back all branches and part of the top, and with a sharp knife prune a little off the larger roots (leaving a clean cut) which then produce feeding roots much quicker. Peaches should be pruned so as to leave just a single stem, with all side branches removed. Stone fruits, such as Cherries, Peaches, and Plums, should be planted only in the early Spring.
